GO TO DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS
THIS EVENING! *

Professor Totten, of William and Mary's College, has written a letter to the New York Evening Post, rather favoring Thayer's scheme of colonizing Virginia. He says that Virginians want more white labor; and that Virginians have no objections to the movement; and that the South, of Richmond, does not represent the sentiment of Virginia. Of course, Mr. Pryor pays his respects to Professor Totten, and maintains his former position.

Now, Thayer is an empty headed theorist, and his visionary project will never exist anywhere but in the moggins of such knincipous as himself. If there be worn-out lands in Virginia to redeem at a profit, they will be redeemed as soon as better investments cannot be made. If any one supposes that a joint stock company of crafty, selfish, down-easters will sacrifice their dollars in such an enterprise, he is as green as a gourd. As a financial operation, the scheme is only worthy of derision and contempt; it is as silly as it is impudent. Indeed, its insincerity is overshadowed by its sublime folly. Still regarding the project in its design, if any man of sense has meditated upon it, we don't wonder that it provokes indignation.

The self-conceit and self-righteousness of such a scheme is almost without example. One set of States assuming their superiority, and proposing to take upon themselves the regeneration of a sister State; creating themselves into a sort of missionary society, to reform the institutions, the industry, and the morals of their neighbors. The Old Dominion should be grateful, indeed, for the prodded charity of Thayer & Co. She has broad acres that are not worth cultivating, no doubt. She can put her means to better use than in such soil.

She is too well off to engage just now in their redemption; and perhaps could afford to give them away to parties poor enough to cultivate them. She is rich enough to do it; for, taking her property and divide it by the number of her inhabitants, and the average wealth of each surpasses the average wealth of the individuals of any free State by about thirty per cent. She might afford to give away some poor land to her poor neighbors. She could afford to help the paupers from the crowded free States, and furnish them with something to do.

It is not worth while to look at the number of people in a given area, but at the wealth of each man, when you want to estimate the comforts they enjoy. The Old Dominion has a name and fame in this Union, and in the world, that protects her from imputations that such a movement would cast upon her. She can afford to smile at the impertinence of her enemies. Virginia is the mother of States and statesmen. She was foremost in the revolution, and her influence has shaped the policy of this glorious Republic more than that of any other State. For a strict adherence to principle, she has no equal among the members of this Union, and her sons, wherever they have gone, have enjoyed an unusual share of popular favor. When you look at the moral character of the State, Virginia maintains her exalted position. We hear of no vast swindling operations, no startling horrid crimes, no mobs, no misinterpretations of legal laws. Her newspapers can't find crimes and outrages enough to give a spice in their pages to the depraved appetite for horrors. The present epidemic of rascality of all sorts does not appear to have reached Virginia. In view of all these facts, had not these pious philanthropists better devote their charities to the infected regions? Let them look over the files of a New England or New York newspaper, and they will find weekly some startling developments of crime and immorality that calls for missionary enterprise. Even the pulpit in New England needs the pious and reforming labors of Mr. Thayer & Co. The lawless and revolutionary spirit that has infected legislative halls and in the pulpit, and that is quite inconsistent with the existence of civil government, would satisfy any sensible man that if the liberal have any means to bestow, here is a proper field for its employment. If the people of those regions feel at all concerned about their own morals at home, they have a world of hard work before them. If Mr. Thayer will get up a society to mind one's own business, and pursue the object faithfully, he might do some good. We have no need of such a society in the South, for our people attend to their own business; but we do begin to feel somewhat concerned about the augmenting tide of depravity that is spreading over the Northern States. We are no better than we ought to be; but we have something better than our pious counsellors, that lecture us on virtue and morality; and if they will consent to look at home, and undertake to remove the festering corruption that is making such terrible roads upon the vital spirits of society; if they will turn their attention to the subject, we will try to get up a joint stock company in the South that will spare them some material aid in the much needed enterprise.

We have hardly done reading over an account of one horrid, mysterious, and shocking crime down East, before we are startled by another. Nothing is sacred from the polluting touch of vice and crime. Still, we had rather not interfere. We trust the wise and good will yet gain the victory over the threatening cohorts of the wicked and vile. But we expect them to keep all their resources at home. They are needed. The Old Dominion, and the South generally, will make out to get along. We are a very self-satisfied people here in the South, and very tolerant to the conceit of our neighbors. They are quite welcome to be as great as they can, provided they keep their greatness to themselves. If they wish to migrate South for the good of their pockets and their morals, they shall be protected in all their little conceits of themselves, if they behave themselves.

We have few poor people here; so poor as to be compelled to live on poor land; and we don't allow any to starve for want of something to eat. As to the nigger, for whom Thayer & Co. feel such a hearty sympathy, and for whose benefit these joint stock companies want to spend their cash, he is not poor enough to cultivate poor land. He is too well off to engage in such unpaying business. It is true, he is said to belong to the white man, but a wag of our acquaintance swears that the white man belongs to the negro; "for," said he, "the negro has the most important legal claims upon the white man that he can enforce, and that the white man can't enforce upon the negro." As to freedom, the white man does the best he can, and so does their relations would prove disastrous to both. Upon the whole, they are both as well off as Thayer & Co., and a heap better off than people compelled to toil on poor, worn-out land, and make their living at it.

Hawkins, who killed Jas. M. Land and Jesse Arvin, has been tried, found guilty, and sentenced to be hung on the 29th of May.

"The St. Louis Leader, of the 6th instant, contains a letter from Isaac H. Sturgon, in reply to an attack upon his character, made in the St. Louis Democrat, a paper—the pet organ of Benton, mainly devoted to the interests of the Black Republicans. He was charged by the editor of the Democrat, among other things, of holding Federal office in St. Louis out of favor of relatives. He responds that no relation recommended him for the position, and adds:

I was recommended to the President for the office of Assistant Treasurer of the United States at this place by Governor Polk, Lieut. Gov. Jackson, all the execrative officers of the State, and the Legislature, all of the Electors for President of the United States, the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the District Court of the United States, Judges Ryland and Scott, of the Supreme Court of our own State, Dr. John C. Galt, Dr. John C. Galt, Dr. John Hughes, John M. Krum, and many other influential persons in the State. It is under their recommendation that I was appointed."

Mr. Sturgon then, after alluding to several charges of the Democrat, says:

I am charged with having changed my political position. I deny it. I was a friend and harmonious companion to the Black Republicans, and the Black Republicans were held at Jefferson City, which nominated Sterling Price for Governor, and Wilson Brown for Senator. I was a friend and harmonious companion to the government of the party in this State.

SATURDAY.....MAY 9, 1857.

MUST BE POLLED:
ATTEND THE DEMOCRATIC MASS MEET-ING AT HEADQUARTERS TO-NIGHT AT SEVEN O'CLOCK!

THE GRAND CONCERT TO-NIGHT.—Since the advent of Jenny Lind in this city, we have had nothing in the musical way that has created the furor which will characterize the appearance of Thalberg and his great troupe at Mozart Hall this evening. Unmistakably the great piano king of the world, he has those in his train, embracing the charming Patti, the towering and wonderful Parodi, and the gifted and skillful Strakosch—material of itself, even without the great self-attraction, to attract all the musical public of Louisville.

THE CONVENTION OF SOUTHERN BAPTISTS. This association met at the Walnut-street Church, in this city, yesterday morning, and was opened by prayer by Rev. William C. Buck, of Mississippi, late of this city. The attendance is large, one hundred and thirty-nine delegates being present, representing all the Southern States. R. B. C. Howell, D. D., of Virginia, was chosen Moderator, and Rev. Wm. C. Crane, of Mississippi, Clerk.

CIRCUIT COURT—CRIMINAL TERM.—A large number of cases were continued yesterday, owing to the absence of witnesses.

The jury in the case of Walter West, charged with passing counterfeit money, finally agreed upon a verdict, and sentenced the prisoner to the penitentiary for two years.

John Clifton, for larceny, was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for one year and six months.

The following cases were set for trial today: Commonwealth vs. John Swinney, for murder; Com. vs. Wm. Early, for manslaughter; Com. vs. Dudley Joint, for larceny; Com. vs. Wm. Cline; Com. vs. Daniel Barr; Com. vs. J. Lynch, for stealing a boat-load of potatoes; Com. vs. Wm. C. Preston and George Coker, for manslaughter.

We publish, this morning, under appropriate head, an advertisement of The Valley Farmer, an excellent monthly periodical, devoted expressly to the interests of Western and Southern farmers and planters. Its editor, Mr. H. P. Braman, is a genuine enthusiast in his devotion to agricultural interests. His great experience and practical knowledge eminently fit him for the position of editor of such a journal. The useful and practical results of farm experiments are the best guide to others, and they are carefully detailed in the pages of this publication.

The terms at which The Valley Farmer is published places it within the reach of all, and we are sure no one can read its pages without receiving much benefit therefrom.

LOUISVILLE AND FRANKFORT RAILROAD—ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.—It will be seen that some important changes have taken place in the arrangement of trains over this road. The morning train will leave the depot at 6 o'clock, as heretofore, and the afternoon express train will start from the depot at a $\frac{1}{2}$ past 3 o'clock. The accommodation train will leave at 5:15 o'clock p.m., which is twenty-five minutes later than heretofore. The accommodation train returning from Frankfort will reach the Louisville depot 8 o'clock a.m. These changes all take place on Monday, and we doubt not, will greatly convenience those within city reach, who daily avail themselves of the accommodation train.

SPECIAL MAIL AGENT FOR OHIO.—The Washington Union, of Thursday, announces that the Postmaster-General has appointed W. S. V. Prentiss to be special agent for the district of Ohio, and parts of Pennsylvania and Virginia, in place of J. E. Eaton, from the 1st of June next.

THE BIBLE PANORAMA.—Let it be borne in mind that Williams' great Bible Panorama will be exhibited at 3 o'clock this afternoon, for the accommodation of schools and families. As there will be no exhibition this evening, the attendance this afternoon will doubtless be large.

AT the urgent solicitation of a number of persons, the Rector of Christ Church will repeat his sermon on "The Alleged Exclusiveness of the Episcopal Church" to-morrow night. Service will commence at 8 o'clock. The seats are all free.

A pleasant little girl, with light hair, apparently three years old, was found in Chestnut street, near Fourth, yesterday. She is at the residence of Mr. N. L. McLellan, in Fourth, near Chestnut street.

Rev. Mr. F. of Virginia, who is attending the Baptist anniversaries in this city at present, met with the misfortune to have his pocket picked of a sum of money at his hotel yesterday morning.

Many of the most distinguished Baptist divines throughout the whole South are in the city at present, attending the Baptist anniversary service. Service is held in the different Baptist churches nightly.

Advertisers will bear in mind that the Sunday edition of the Democrat has a very large and increasing circulation. They should hand their favors in by 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The gardeners of New Albany township have called a meeting for the purpose of petitioning the City Council of New Albany to renew the license for the sale of their product.

STEAMER FANNY BULLITT.—We are indebted to T. J. Dugay, Esq., of the favorite New Orleans steamer Fanny Bullitt, which arrived last evening, for N. w. Orleans papers and other favors.

THE L'EMPEREUR is the only Sunday issue in the city, and is supplied every day of the week (Monday excepted) at the cheap cost of ten cents per week. Send in your names.

It appears from the returns of the County Assessors that there are nearly four thousand voters in that part of the city west of Third street known as the Western District.

More beautiful weather could not be desired than that which we have at present. The comet has evidently lost its influence upon our climate, if ever had any.

George W. Thomas has been convicted in Logansport (Ind.) of killing John F. Brown, and sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the State Prison.

STEAMER ECLIPSE.—The noble and favorite steamer Eclipse arrived from New Orleans last evening. We are indebted to her kind officers for favors.

We take pleasure in recommending persons in want of genuine Ambrotypes to call on McGill, second door from Fifth, on Main.

Frank Tubbs was sentenced to the penitentiary of Indiana, on Thursday, at New Albany, for a term of two years.

The river is very full at this point, and continues to rise, with about 12 feet water on the Falls.

We will publish in our Sunday edition.

To NEWSBOYS.—Let us have your orders for tomorrow's Democrat by 12 o'clock to-day.

There was a false alarm of fire about 8 o'clock last evening.

Personal.

The Know-Nothings of Franklin county have nominated Thos. N. Lindsey, Esq., as their candidate for the lower branch of the Legislature.

Edward Kelly, Esq., the Democratic candidate for Constable in the Georgetown (Ky.) precinct, was elected on Saturday last without opposition.

It will be seen from our dispatches that Mr. Bonham has been chosen to fill the vacancy in the South Carolina delegation in Congress, occasioned by the death of Preston S. Brooks.

Thalberg and his great troupe will give a concert in Lexington on Tuesday evening next.

THE COUNCILS.—There was a convocation of the General Council last evening, for the election of city officers. But few were elected, however, and they were confined to Medical and Physician for the Eastern District—Physician for the Eastern District—Greenberry Roberts, Superintendent Chestnut-street Hospital—W. A. Hunderly, M. D. Resident Graduates for same—J. H. Seaton and T. L. Settle. Attending Surgeons—Dr. Seal, Cummings, and Gilpin. Consulting Surgeons—Drs. Goldsmith, Yandal, and Standiford. Attending Physicians—Drs. Pirtle, McCabe, and Cook. Consulting Physicians—Dr. Knight, Thompson, and Hardman. Trustees—Messrs. Wetherford, Sergeant, and Semple. The elections for Policemen, &c., were postured until Monday evening next.

CIRCUIT COURT—CRIMINAL TERM.—A large number of cases were continued yesterday, owing to the absence of witnesses.

The jury in the case of Walter West, charged with passing counterfeit money, finally agreed upon a verdict, and sentenced the prisoner to the penitentiary for two years.

John Clifton, for larceny, was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for one year and six months.

The points decided are as follows:

I. Crosses may be used in the interior as well as on the exterior of churches. The large wooden cross in the chancel of St. Barnabas is accordingly permitted to remain.

II. Stone alters, fixed into the body of the church, and immovable, are prohibited. Altars or communion tables must be of wood, and moveable. The stone altar of St. Barnabas, which rests on the foundation of the church, is accordingly permitted.

III. The communion table must be capable of being covered. Changes of altar cloths, white for Lent, white for Easter, &c., are permitted.

IV. Super-altars, or wooden ledges over and behind the altars, are permitted.

V. The brazen chancel screen or gate, separating the chancel from the body of the church, is permitted.

VI. The credence tables, or preparatory altars on which the elements are placed before consecration for the holy communion, are permitted.

VII. The golden candlesticks standing on the altar at St. Paul's are permitted.

This decision overrules the decision of Dr. Lushington on all points but that of the stone altar.

On that point it coincides with the views of the Evangelical party. On the other points, it sustains the practice of the Tractarians, as rubric—Boston Transcript.

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has given its decision, on the final appeal, in the cases of the Churches of St. Barnabas, Pimlico, and St. Paul's, Knightsbridge. This, as we understand it, determines finally the questions in controversy, which related to church ornaments, and the arrangement of chancels for divine worship. The question turned upon the constructions to be given to sundry rubrics and acts of Parliament.

The points decided are as follows:

I. Crosses may be used in the interior as well as on the exterior of churches. The large wooden cross in the chancel of St. Barnabas is accordingly permitted to remain.

II. Stone alters, fixed into the body of the church, and immovable, are prohibited. Altars or communion tables must be of wood, and moveable. The stone altar of St. Barnabas, which rests on the foundation of the church, is accordingly permitted.

III. The communion table must be capable of being covered. Changes of altar cloths, white for Lent, white for Easter, &c., are permitted.

IV. Super-altars, or wooden ledges over and behind the altars, are permitted.

V. The brazen chancel screen or gate, separating the chancel from the body of the church, is permitted.

VI. The credence tables, or preparatory altars on which the elements are placed before consecration for the holy communion, are permitted.

VII. The golden candlesticks standing on the altar at St. Paul's are permitted.

This decision overrules the decision of Dr. Lushington on all points but that of the stone altar.

On that point it coincides with the views of the Evangelical party. On the other points, it sustains the practice of the Tractarians, as rubric—Boston Transcript.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTICES.

BY S. G. HENRY & CO.—We are requested to inform Real Estate buyers that the large sales of Lots in Jacobs' Enlargement will commence this (Saturday) evening, and continue through the week, and that there will be no bidding. The price of each lot will be determined by the auctioneer.

We are authorized by Mr. Henry to state, that nothing new was elicited. The court took a recess. The Judge announced that the testimony on both sides would be finished to-night.

Helen Cunningham said she had no knowledge of the way of Burdell's death, or who committed the homicide. Augusta Cunningham made a similar statement. The case then closed for defense. The District Attorney said he should not introduce rebutting testimony. The court said they would allow four hours to each counsel to sum up. Adjourned till Saturday.

eyes at every corner, and in newspapers everywhere, and on all occasions. These words, however, are not always true, without profit, the observer may naturally ask what these things are worth, and at what prices will they be sold? competition.
